Key to getting funding is getting partners

Voices of Resilience Initiative: Alex

There was a discussion of the new Square Space site for Voices of Resilience. It was agreed that that site should be connected visually and with branding to the existing R2:1 site. VoR will act as a story-telling site geared to a younger population by being more visual.

Website: Alex

It was agreed that a new newsletter would be put together. The deadline for articles and news will be the end of September. Alex is doing one on the psychological impact of the climate crisis. There was a discussion of social attitudes to climate change. While some people seem to have shifted to see it as serious, others are still in denial. It is possible that other pressures like inflation or high housing may distract people from the climate crisis.

To do:

Renew the invitation for questions

Alex: send articles for the newsletter by the end of September
